

Cali city, Colombia

Image 1: Cali city, two place very close, but with different occupation.

The app would not only include the status of the traffic, but also the comfort status of the citizen, with emphasis on the activity being carried out, example if you see garbage in the streets, if you feel safe, noise, air quality, if you see homeless people, the street and park statistics and if you are doing governmental paperwork, if you take a lot of attention the distance of displacement of your residence. these data would be paired together with governance to improve these aspects.

For the youngest ones the experience in the school could be measured.