

1. Which are your top livability criteria?

Transportation
Job Opportunities
Economy
Safety
Environment

2. Why do we live where we live?

Location: Quezon City, Philippines

Public transportation
Job Opportunities with all sorts of field and industry
Urbanize development
Proxemics to essential facilities such as institutional and healthcare facilities
Relatively near to other family members

3. To what extent does your own place of residence fulfill your ideal livability criteria?

Transportation	-90%
Job Opportunities	- 85%
Economy	-80%
Safety	-60%
Environment	-50%

Average Rating: 73%

4. What would you change?

If I would be the mayor, I'll definitely put an effort to focus on safety and sanitation standards. I think it will make a good impact to the whole city when it comes to livability since we need to take in to consideration also the health of our constituents. Aside from that, proposing more green spaces in infrastructures or incorporating sustainability standards in newly proposed/constructed buildings since there will be limited in the availability of lots for green spaces.

5. Why do we move?

Bonifacio Global City
Clark Global City
Cebu Global City

If given the to move to other cities, the cities stated above will be on the top of my list. These cities in the Philippines are new cities that incorporated different studies to come up with livable cities in different under-developed areas. Having said, theses cities were able to consider different facets of living. And I think the cities were able to come up with effective and efficient solutions for the problems that we are facing with our cities today.